TWO OF A KIND.

'Bargains, eh ?' said Mrs. Pilkington. 'Guess I'll have a look at 'em.'

Of all things, Mrs. Pilkington was least able to resist a bargain.

The old Pilkington farm house at home was crammed full' of 'bargains' possible and inpossible. The bureau-drawers owerflowed with 'bargains' which were of no use to anyone ; the trunks were packed full of 'bargains.'

And here, on the crowded curbstones of Grand Street, the swinging pasteboard sign of 'Great Bargains Within !' attracted her attention, hurried though she was with the manifold errands which yet remained incomplete.

She had a lot of damaged table-linen under her arm, and some cheap hosiery in her bag, and a dozen towels with mis printed border in her pocket, and here she was crowding into the Grand Street store to buy a blue-spotted pongee neckerchief for eighteen cents !

'It'll do for Sara Janetta to wa'ar around her neck of a cool eyenin',' said Mrs. Pilkington, 'and eighteen cents is really very cheap for real pongee.'

Mrs. Pilkington lived in a little brown roofed farm house on the Housatonic River, and her main errand up to town had been to buy a 'store carpet' for her best room floor, and to exchange an old sewing-machine for something of a newer order.

Her cousin, Mrs Bruce Babbitt, who had spent the summer months at the farm, and made the most possible trouble for the least possible pay, had also engaged to hunt her up a 'help' from the nearest intelligence office, and have the same on hand when the 'five-four train' left the Grand Central Depot that afternoon !

And sure enough, when the lady from the country arrived, red and panting, at the depot, with disheveled hair, bent bonnet, and shawl dragged all awry, a modest young girl stood at the door with a card bearing the name of 'Mrs. Bruce Babbitt' in her hand.

'Is it Mrs. Pilkington ?' said she.

'You ain't the new sewing-machine, be you ?' said Mrs. Pilkington, rubbing her nose with a puzzled air. 'Nor yet the eighteen yards of carpet from Stoney-bridge and Bounce's ?'

'I am Phoebe,' said the young woman—'Phœbe, at nine dollars a month, if I am lucky enough to suit you, ma'am ?'

She was a pretty, blue-eyed lass, with a fresh complexion, and a neat gown of green and white seersucker, and she wore a bonnet of her own trimming, with a cluster of butter cups on the side.

Mrs. Pilkington looked dubiously at her. She had prepared herself to expect a stout, red-handed drudge.

It did not seem possible that this delicate little apple-blossom of a girl could be a servant-of-all work !

But there, sure enough, were her credentials, and the bell, even then, was clanging for the closing of the gates.

'Come on !' said Mrs. Pilkinton, and she rushed through, dragging Phœbe after her. 'It's strange, though, that the carpet and the sewing-machine ain't here.'

'Did you expect carpet and a sewing-machine, ma'am ?' Phœbe asked, respectfully.

'I bought 'em and paid for 'em,' said Mrs. Pilkington, impressively, 'and I don't see why they ain't here.'

'Perhaps they will be sent by express,' suggested Phœbe.

'I declare to goodness, I never thought of that !'' said Mrs. Pilkington.

And she skurried through the crowded car to find a seat.

It was the dusk of a chilly May evening when they reached Blackbird's Hollow, and alighted in the midst of dense pines and sighing tamaracks.

'If Pilkington hain't remembered to come and meet us, I shall be mad !' said Mrs. Pilkington, stretching her neck forward the better to survey the glimmering curves of the road. 'And Pilkington is always forgetting ! My goodness, gracious me ! what's that !' as Phœbe stooped to recover something which she had inadvertently let fall.

'My handkerchief, ma'am !'

Mrs. Pilkinton made a grasp at it.

'Your handkerchief !' she screamed. 'Mine, you mean—minx ! thief ! good-for-nothing !—my pongee handkerchief that you have stolen right out of my bag ! Well, I never !'

She shook Phœbe vehemently. Phœbe began to cry in mingled terror and resentmet, and just then up drove the farm wagon at a gallop.

'Hello, mother !' said Ezra Pilkington's cheerful voice. 'I'm afraid I've kept you waiting a bit, but the linch-pin came out of the wheel, and I had to stop at Tony Deephill's to get it fixed. Now, then !'

He drove the stout pony close to the raised platform which extended away from the station.

Mrs. Pilkington pushed Phœbe into the back seat, and followed her with lightning haste.

'Not that way !' she cried, grasping at the reins, as Ezra would have headed for the highroad. 'Drive straight to Squire Pulteney's. This gal's a thief ! I'm going to have her arrested before she is a day older !'

'Eh !' said Ezra, staring from his mother to Phœbe, and then back again.

'She's stole my spotted pongee handkerchief—my handkerchief that I bought at a bargain on Grand Street this very morning !' shrieked Mrs. Pilkington.

'It's—it's my handkerchief,' faltered poor Phœbe, feeling as if she were in a terrible nightmare from which there was no awakening.

'A likely story !' clamored the enraged housewife. 'I've always heard of the wiles and tricks of these city minxes, but I never realized it until now. Drive on, Ezra—drive quick ! She shall be lodged in the county jail this very night !'

'Are you sure you ain't mistaken, mothe ?' said kind Ezra, compassionating the look of pallid misery in the young girl's face.

'Mistaken, indeed !' sniffed the old lady. "Drive on, I say ! Don't lose any more time, or Squire Pulteney will have gone home for the night.'

She herself took possession of the reins and she spoke and chirrupped to the horses.

'But, mother—'pleaded Ezra.

Even as he spoke, however, poor Phœbe, driven wild by vague terror and an instinctive desire to escape, had flung herself from the wagon to the ground.

'Stop—for heaven's sake, mother, stop !' shouted Ezra. 'Don't you see that her dress is caught in the wheels?'

The little horse stopped. He always stopped, on general principles, whenever a suitable opportunity presented itself and the very slightest 'Whoa !' would invariably bring him to a dead standstill.

Ezra sprang from the wagon to disentangle the helpless figure in the dust and Mrs. Pilkington scrambled after with a vague idea that Phœbe might yet get up and try to run away.

As she jumped down her satchel fell prone into the road, and bursting open the overstrained latch, disgorged its contents on the dewy grass of the roadside, first and foremost among which was—a spotted pongee handkerchief.

'Good Land o' Moses !' piously interjected Mrs. Pilkington, 'if there ain't the dratted old pongee handkerchief, arter all !'

And she stared helplessly, first at its prim and undisturbed folds, and then at Phœbe's handkerchief—exactly the same in color, pattern and fabric.

'She ain't a thief, arter all !' said Mrs. Pilkington, her whole nature overflooded by the rising tide of remorse. 'Poor child ! and I'm afeard she's hurt a-tryin' to run away from nothing at all.'

Phœbe's ankle was slightly sprained, that was all, and by this time she was able to smile and answer kindly Mrs. Pilkington's numerous questions and condolences.

'Can I ride home ? Oh, of course I can !' said she, in reply to Ezra's interrogations. 'My ankle is only the least bit lame.'

Old Farmer Pilkington was anxiously looking out for them, when, considerably later than he had expected, the wagon drove up and Mrs. Pilkington made haste to explain everything to him.

'And ain't it queer,' said she, 'that me and Phœbe should both hev bought pongee handkerchiefs just alike on Grand Street ? If ever there was bargains, they be ! Half a yard square, real China goods, with a hem—'

'Fiddlesticks !' said old Mr. Pilkington. 'If there's anything I hate, it's bargains !'

Little Phœbe Primrose stayed on at the farm. She liked the daisies and red clover, the sound of running brooks the smell of the cow's breath. And—Ezra Pilkington liked her.

The President's New House.

Preparations Being Made for it's Occupation Next Fall.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The President has taken steps toward preparing his recently purchased residence, on Georgetown Heights, for occupation. It is understood from the architects, who have to-day taken out the permit to improve the place, that it will be ready by October. The house will be enlarged and remodeled to conform to what is known as the colonial style of architecture. There will be a high pitched roof, with dormer windows and projecting eaves, the whole being in harmony with the location.

It is a lovely site and the cottage will be the most picturesque of the neighborhood. A good many people drive by it daily and would stop, too, and carry away pieces of the house or fence or something if the place were not well guarded.

Miscellaneous News.

10 MEN BLOWN TO ATOMS.

MACCAINSVILLE, N. J., July 2.—A terrible explosion occurred at the Atlantic Dynamite Company's works at Kenville Station, this place, at a quarter to 8 o'clock this morning, whereby ten men lost their lives. The disaster occurred in the mixing establishment, which was totally destroyed, and the earth surrounding it torn upover a considerable area. The men were preparing to mix for the day's work and were all in the building. The works of the company are scattered over 300 or 400 acres of ground, and there are between 30 and 40 buildings on the premises. The company employs about 100 men. In the vapor or mixing-house about 15 men are usually employed. The mixing house consisted of two semi-detached brick buildings on the side of a hill. Two or three of the other buildings are also of brick, but most of them are small frame sheds. This is probably one of the most extensive manufactories of its kind in the country.

There was nothing left of the establishment, and nobody left to give the origin of the explosion, every man at work in the building having been killed. Some of the bodies of the men were blown to pieces, and the parts gathered up can only be identified by pieces of clothing that remained on them. Some of the pieces of the bodies were found on trees, and others many yards from the scene of the disaster. All the buildings in town were damaged by the explosion, scarcely a pane of glass being left unbroken, and not a dish in any of the houses left in its proper place.

The explosion caused the wildest excitement, women running about screaming and searching for their husbands, mothers for their sons, and sisters for their brothers. The cries of the bereaved people were heartrending in the extreme. Hundreds of people from near and far flocked to the scene. Some came a distance of ten and twelve miles, attracted to the place, they say, by the concussion of the explosion which they experienced at their homes. Nearly all the bodies were got together by noon and taken to their homes.

The people at High Bridge, about 12 miles distant, say the rumbling sound of the explosion resembled that of an earthquake, their residences having been shaken by it and the furniture moved. The force of the explosion was even felt at points twenty miles off. The money loss will be heavy.

Crops Seriously Damaged.

The Effect of the Drought in the West and Northwest.

MADISON, Wis., July 5.—Crops in this vicinity are much damaged because of lack of rain. A drought, which has continued two months, has so injured crops that the yield in every way will be much diminished. Winter wheat is well headed, and is turning yellow in some places. The hot weather has rather injured the berry in filling. Small grain sown this Spring stands thin, and will head with a short growth of straw. Corn cooks fairly well. Reports from the tobacco fields say the crop is being greatly damaged by drouth. The hay crop will be light.

GALENA, Ill., July 5.—The protracted drought is seriously affecting crops in this section. Spring wheat is considered a total failure in a majority of the townships not visited by rain. Corn fields and upland pastures are in a deplorable condition. Hay is scarcely half a crop in this section, and early potatoes are despaired of.

ABERDEEN, Dak., July 5.—Hot winds and unusually warm weather have prevailed in this vicinity for the past week, doing much damage to wheat. In some places the yield will not be more than half a crop, unless rain falls within a day or two the crop will be almost a total failure. During the last two days the thermometer registered 106 degrees in the shade.

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 5.—Crops in this vicinity are very far advanced, but suffering greatly from drought. Small grains are burning up with heat, and corn needs rain very much. Within a radius of 50 miles it is very dry, as no heavy rains have fallen in several weeks. The thermometer registers 104 degrees in the shade.

Forest Fires Raging in Michigan.

MACKINAC, Mich., July 7.—Destructive forest fires are raging along the line of the Detroit, Mackinac and Marquette Railroad and much alarm prevails among the farmers. Everything is as dry as tinder. The ground is parched and the surface pulverized like dust. Crops are burning up for want of water. Young fruit trees are dying for the same reason, and the outlook is indeed serious if rain does not fall soon. The weather is also frightfully hot, the thermometer registering 107 degrees in the shade, the hottest experience here. Thirty thousand cords of wood of the Vulcan Furnace Company have been burned at Newberry and the furnace will probably shut down in consequence.

The Pennsylvania Tack Works at Norristown Seized by the Sheriff.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 5.—The heaviest failure occurring in this town for many years is reported this morning, and involves the Pennsylvania Tack Works and Capt. C. P. Weaver, Treasurer of the concern. The seizure includes all the property of the Tack Works, all the personalty of Captain Weaver, and the skating rink, which has just been transformed into a most beautiful theatre at great cost. The Tack Works are owned by a company, with John Ralston, President ; C. P. Weaver, Treasurer, and H. P. Weaver, Secretary. There are other claims amounting to about $40,000 against the works, and these are liable to be pushed at any time. Captain Weaver is one of Norristown's most progressive citizens, and is well and favorably known, and the failure of the warks is attributed to an unsuccessful attempt at combination.

Seventy Persons Poisoned at a Picnic.

COULTERVILLE, Ill., July 6.—Seventy persons were poisoned here yesterday by eating picnic ice-cream. Four have already died, and more are in a precarious condition.

How the Cholera is Spreading.

ROME, July 6.—In the last 24 hours there have been 10 new cases of cholera and 10 deaths from the disease at Brindisi, and in the remainder of the province 296 new cases and 71 deaths.

VIENNA, July 6.—Cholera is spreading at Fiume.

The Army Worm in Berks County.

READING, Pa., July 6.—The harvesting of the wheat crop has commenced in this county. Grain that has been prostrated by the storm and rain in many fields has been very badly damaged. Some of the farmers report that from 25 to 50 per cent. of their crops have been destroyed. Considerable damage has been done by the army worm, and the loss in some localities will average 50 per cent.

Down to a Watery Grave.

Peter Collins, a Mute, Caught in a Whirlpool while Swimming.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 6.—Peter Collins, a mute, whose parents reside here, was drowned this morning at Nayang Falls on the outskirts of the city. He went in swimming and was drawn into a whirlpool near the head of the falls. He was 15 years of age, and had been a pupil at the Philadelphia School for Deaf Mutes for four years past.

In Forty Feet of Water.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 6.—Fredrick Tuthill, aged 21, a shipping clerk for Coursen, Clemons & Co., of this city, was drowned while swimming in Lake Winola, near Scranton, yesterday afternoon. A young man named Hines, who had entered the water with Tuthill, was some distance from the latter when he called for help. Before Hines could reach him Tuthill went down. His body lies in 40 feet of water.

A Bather Seized with Cramp.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 6.—Patrick Gouldin, while bathing in the Schuylkill at Betzwood on Sunday morning, was seized with cramp and drowned before assistance could reach him. His struggles were seen by an Italian laborer, who spread the alarm. Goulden was a nephew of Contractor McKenna, who operates a quarry near Betzwood, and was employed by him as foreman. He was 23 years old. The body was sent to his late home, No. 1718 North Twenty-seventh street, Philadelphia.

Packed in Ice Alive.

Fortunate Rescue of a Supposed Corpse from Being Frozen to Death.

READING, Mich., July 7.—Mrs. Lucinda Faste, of Woodbridge township, while on her way to the Fourth of July celebration here last Saturday, fell unconscious from her seat in the carriage and was to all indications dead. Medical assistance was called, but all efforts to restore her proved futile and she was given up, although not having every appearance of being dead. The body was laid out and taken back home for burial. Arriving there, ice was procured in which to pack the remains, and they were so packed for more than 30 minutes when an old physician, Dr. Neclich, called on the bereaved family. He was so struck with the life-like look of the "corpse" that he expressed doubts of her death. The body was quickly taken from the ice and the doctor went to work to establish the fact of her living. He opened a vein in Mrs. Faste's arm yesterday and the blood flowed freely. In a short time the lungs began to work, and the funeral preparations were abandoned. The patient now lies apparently asleep. Her house is filled with curious neighbors, and the local physicians are much puzzled over the case. It is said by the neighbors that Mrs. Faste's mother once had a similar experience ; that she lay in a trance for many days, and when she came to evinced a full knowledge of everything which had gone on around her.

Treatment of Slaves in Brazil.

About one fourth of the slave population in Brazil work in the cotton fields. They labor from four o'clock in the morning until twilight, stopping an hour and a half for breakfast, and an hour for dinner. The rest of the slaves are carpenters, blacksmiths, machine hands or infirmary patients. Though slavery still exists in Brazil, it is perhaps less unendurable than that which exists in certain other countries, inasmuch as a good man has a chance of getting on and ameliorating his position. He may become a feitor, and then he would have a separate place to live in ; or he is put to work about the house or garden, while the most intelligent boys are made to learn some trade and often turn out good blacksmiths, stone masons etc. At half-past seven the bell rings to leave off work. Until nine they can do as they like ; then the second bell rings, and they are locked in their quarters for the night.

On Sundays they cultivate their gardens, while the women wash clothes. If any of them choose to work on Sundays, they get paid for it, while on St. John's day it is the custom to give a small sum to each slave. Their food, of course, is provided for them, and is very simple, consisting of Indian-corn flour made with grease into some sort of pudding. Feijon is also an article of diet that is not confined to the slaves, but is made in every household in Brazil. It is a stew made of small black beans, with plenty of bacon in it, and sometimes the dried meal that is imported from the River Platte.

In fruit the blacks are well off ; oranges, bananas & pineapples grow wild all over the country. Coffee forms their beyer age, and on wet days or very hot ones they are allowed the white rum of the country. This rum is made on the place from the sugar cane, and is the drink that can be had pure in South America. As the value of a slave depends upon his good condition the owner treats him well in self-defence. But nothing can be said in favor of slavery ; and it is gratifying to know that even in Brazil it will soon be a thing of the past, as by a law passed in 1870 it was declared that after the year 1871 the children of slaves should be born free.

A LIFE FOR A CHICKEN.

Mrs. Webber's Beating Causes Eddie Wood's Death.

The police of Camden, N. J., were notified late last night that the lad, Edward W. Wood, of No. 731 Liberty street, had died from the effects of injuries he received at the hands of a Mrs. Margaret Webber last week. The boy's father is a shoemaker and in poor circumstances. In order that his son might turn an honest penny to aid the family finances the father allowed him to drive the cows of his neighbors to pasture. The lad had been doing this for weeks, and night and morning had passed the house of Mrs. Webber, a German, who recently built a new house in which to live on the Liberty Park tract. The woman had become acquainted with the boy, and, it is said was in the habit of occasionally giving him food. About ten days ago, in the morning, young Wood stopped at the house of Mrs. Webber. Her chickens had broken into the garden, and she directed the boy to drive them out of the inclosure.

Wood, boy-like, picked up a stone and threw it at the fowls. The stone was too certain in its aim, and struck one of the finest of the flock, killing it instantly.

Mrs. Webber was watching the performance from her doorway, and seeing the slaughter of the hen flew into an ungovernable passion. She picked up a heavy stick lying in the yard, and seizing the boy rained a shower of blows upon his head. Her fury was not exhausted until Wood fell unconscious at her feet.

Some of the neighbors saw the beating and cared for the boy. He was taken home and had several spasms, continuing unconscious. Finally his reason tottered and he became a raving maniac, requiring the assistance of several persons to hold him during his spasms.

Mayor Pratt caused Mrs. Webber's arrest, and she gave bail in the sum of $800. When the boy's death was reported at the City Hall last night the Mayor immediately ordered the woman's re-arrest, and she will be held to await the action of the Coroner.

It was remarked at a theatre in New York, the other night : "What a lot of married people there are here tonight." "How can you tell they are married ?" was the query. "Don't you see ?" was the answer. "The men don't do any talking, and there's hardly a corsage bouquet among the women."

STORY OF A BROKEN HEART.

The Real Reason Why James Buchanan Remained a Bachelor.

A Washington letter to the Chicago News say :

President Buchanan's love story is historic, and reads more like the conventional novel of fifty years ago than plain fact. But it happened just as tragedies happen every day that are many times stranger than fiction. When he was a poor young lawyer he became engaged to Miss Coleman, who belonged to one of the richest, staidest and, it may be assumed, narrowest-minded and most burblind families in Philadelphia. The Colemans by no means approved of the match, but nevertheless the young couple became engaged. Mr. Buchanan was then practising law in a remote part of Pennsylvania, and in those days of stage coaches and saddle-bags correspondence was liable to interruptions. Miss Coleman's letters became irregular and then stopped altogether. He wrote repeatedly, but got no reply. At last he determined to go to Philadelphia, but at Lancaster the stage met with an accident and Mr. Buchanan suffered a broken leg. He wrote again as soon as he was able, but still heard nothing. Laid up in a country tavern, in the midst of a phenomenal snowstorm, for six weeks, embittered him, and he wrote Miss Coleman a letter of fierce reproaches, and then wrote no more. Now for Miss Coleman's part. Her eminently respectable family from the beginning intercepted all of her letters and all of Mr. Buchanan's. She made all the appeals to him a woman could make, but she never had a line from him after he left Philadelphia, except the last cutting letter—and as, unfortunately, it contained nothing but his renunciation of her, she could know nothing of what had preceded it. The eminently respectable family were satisfied—the match was broken off by means that would have landed them all in the penitentiary in these days. A year or two afterward Mr. Buchanan was in Philadelphia, and at a ball came face to face with Miss Coleman. Neither spoke ; and Mr. Buchanan paid marked attention to another girl present. That night a young friend who was staying with Miss Coleman said to her, while the two girls were alone in their room : 'Did you see Mr. Buchanan's attentions to Miss——? Now they might have been yours had you recognized him.' Miss Coleman began to sob violently. She would not be soothed, and her friend, becoming alarmed, called the family. Of what next happened two accounts have been given ; one was that she had taken poison, and her sufferings afterward came from that—but those who were near her said that she was simply suffering from uncontrollable mental anguish. Towards morning, when her pulse had got so low that it was scarcely perceptible, and her nervous excitement had changed into a profound stupor, the doctors were sent for. But she was past help. They never roused her, and she died the next day of what the doctors called nervous exhaustion, but which goes by the name of a broken heart. Then the truth came to Mr. Buchanan's ears, and from that day his bachelorhood was assumed.

Perished in a Burning Barn.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., July 7.—The barn of Adam Baird, a farmer in Germany valley, near Shirleysburg, this county, was burned yesterday evening, and his little son, 7 years old, perished in the flames. The mother saw smoke issuing from the roof of the barn and at once gave the alarm to her husband and other men who were working in the harvest field, by ringing the bell. They could not reach the barn in time to save it or any of its contents. It is believed that the boy had matches with him, and in playing with them caused the fire, and that his means of escape were cut off.

A Tramp Killed.

MIFFLINTOWN, Pa., July 5.—Earnest Hoffner, a tramp, was killed here yesterday by Fast Line Express. He stepped from a freight train directly in front of the passenger train and was horribly mangled and instantly killed. Letters found upon his person showed that he was a member of the Knights of Labor, and also acquainted with the Chicago Anarchists, who caused the great riot in that city a short time ago. A self-acting dynamite revolver was also secured upon his person.

Announcement.

R. A. BUMILLER, Esq., Editor Millheim Journal.—Dear Sir: Some parties are circulating the report that I am not a candidate for Prothonotary. Now I desire to say to the Democrats of Centre County, that I am a candidate in earnest, and want to make the nomination if I can do so honorably, and hope the people will give my case fair consideration with the rest.

Respectfully yours,
Aaron Williams.

Democratic State Convention.

THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION of Pennsylvania will assemble at the Opera House, in the City of Harrisburg, at 10 a. m., on WEDNESDAY, Aug. 18th, to nominate candidates for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Auditor General, Sec'y of Internal Affairs and Congressman-at-Large.

The Convention will consist of 359 Representative Delegates, selected under the rules of the party from the respective Assembly Districts of the State, one for each 1,000 Democratic votes cast for Governor at the last preceding gubernatoral election, or for a fraction of 1,000 such votes, amounting to 500 or more, in the respective districts, provided that each representative district shall have at least one delegate.

W. U. HENSEL,
Chairman Dem. State Com.
J. B. LICHTY, Sec'y.

COL. A. WILSON NORRIS' speech at Gettysburg to the soldiers would better have been left unsaid. It may turn out to be a troublesome bumble bee in his campaign hat.

THE recent Republican state convention furnished another strong proof that the Republican party of Pennsylvania is run by a powerful machine. It was truly a Republican feast, with a set programme, and the ticket nominated stands upon a platform of empty phrases, with probably one exception, the prohibition clause. As far as the nominees are concerned, the ticket is not an iota stronger than the one in 1882, and is likely to meet the same fate. Gen. Beaver, at the head of it, was a brave and illustrious soldier, and has an irreproachable private character, but he is and always will be an unlucky political star.

AS MAY be seen in the notice at the head of this column the democratic state convention of Pennsylvania will be held in Harrisburg on Wednesday, August 18th. Of course, the nomination of a candidate for governor commands the general and foremost attention. Though there are quite a number of candidates mentioned, the probabilities are that the convention will settle down to either Lieut. Gov. Black or Senator Wallace. At all events much care should and, we think, will be taken to select a candidate that will give general satisfaction, especially since the republican ticket and platform have some weak points, that may, by a diplomatic management of the democratic forces, become the means of Republican defeat.

J. L. SPANGLER, ESQ., of Bellefonte, announces himself as a candidate for Congress in this issue. As every county in the district presents candidates for the congressional nomination, it is most advisable to have Centre follow suit and keep up with the rest. Otherwise it would be disputable ground and would become a regular battlefield for all the other aspirants. As far as Mr. Spangler's record is concerned we deem it hardly necessary to write up a lengthy article, as he is well and favorably known by many. However we would remind our democratic readers that he is one of the best barristers in the county, a man possessing the necessary qualifications to appear in the congressional halls acceptably, should he be nominated and elected, and that he has always been a most active and zealous worker in the party.

EX-GOVERNOR CURTIN, our much esteemed congressman from this district, submits a statement to his constituents, informing them of his reasons for retiring from Congress at the end of his present term. The circular letter appears in this issue and the gentleman's many friends will read of his retirement with heartfelt regret. His congressional career was certainly a brilliant one and during his two terms of office he endeared himself to the soldier as well as to the laborer. His patriotic devotion to his country and his fearlessness in always advocating measures that would be for the public good have made him one of the most promiaent members of the House and it is actually a pity when a man of his type retires from public life. But such is the whirligig of time. After years of faithful service the best statesmen step down and out to make place for new material

AMONG the announcements this week may be found the name of Hon. C. T. Alexander, of Bellefonte, for the State Senate. It will be remembered that the gentleman was a candidate for the same office four years ago, but withdrew from the contest before the convention. We understand that Mr. Alexander thinks he is justly entitled to the nomination and consequently proposes to make a determined run for it. Several years ago Mr. Alexander was a member of the Senate and he is well-known in the county and district as a staunch and faithful democrat, deserving the support of his party. Several years ago Mr. Alexander was a member of the Senate, and he is well-known in the county and district as a staunch and faithful democrat, deserving the support of his party.

Cleveland and His Vetoes.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The President has been engaged the past two days in personally examining the 141 special pension acts delivered to him June 24, which, by reason of the time required by the Pension Bureau to examine its records concerning them, were only ready on Saturday for his consideration. He has carefully studied all the facts presented in the reports made by the Congressional committee in each case and the special reports prepared for his information by the Pension Bureau, which are very voluminous and complete. The result of his investigation is, 20 bills vetoed and 120 approved and signed, one having been recalled. During this session of Congress 565 special pension acts have become laws, and 90 have been vetoed.

Announcement of Curtin's Retirement.

To the Citizens of the Twentieth Congressional District:

Having contemplated for some time my retirement from Congress at the expiration of my present term, I now announce to the citizens of the Twentieth Congressional District that I will not again be a candidate for re-election.

I make this announcement now in answer to the many citizens of the District, of different political parties, who have written me asking that I again allow my name to be used.

The office of Member of Congress is not a sinecure. I am constantly pressed with duties and engagements which I try to fulfill, but which have too often failed from the impossibility of success. Among these, not the least onerous and painful, are the numerous applications for official position, where success is possible under the most favorable circumstances only to very few.

It has happened also that the claims for aid in obtaining pensions made on me, not only by the surviving soldiers resident in Pennsylvania, but by those who have left the State, have added very largely to my labors. I need not say that I have willingly responded to these calls from the men who offered their lives for the preservation of the Government; and I may be allowed to add that my efforts in behalf of this most deserving class of our citizens, not only in the Bureau of Pensions, but in my place in Congress, aided sometimes by my own personal knowledge and testimony, have not been fruitless.

And here I desire to express especially my deep gratitude to the surviving soldiers of the District, who, with remarkable unanimity, have earnestly and enthusiastically sustained me. Their confidence and friendship, given to me early in the war, have never been withdrawn, and one of the most grateful reflections of my life is that I shall retain that confidence and friendship until the end.

Another very gratifying memory of my public life in State and Nation is, that I have tried to deserve, and have received in full measure, the confidence and support of the industrial people of my District and of Pennsylvania, and this is the more gratifying because in every public and private act and utterance by which I have sought to advance the interests and welfare of our workingmen, they have been advised that only in the supremacy of law and order and by the maintenance of the rights of person and property, can labor find its just security and reward.

Honored as I have been so often with important trusts during the last third of a century, I can not close this announcement of my withdrawal from Congressional life without again expressing my grateful sense of obligation to the people of the District and State of my birth, amongst whom I have always lived, and by whom I have been supported and sustained with a constancy and devotion which I can never forget.

Very Respectfully,
A. G. CURTIN.

Caught by the Cars.

Distressing Railroad Accident in Altoona.

ALTOONA, Pa., July 9.—Two little girls, aged 2 and 3 years respectively, were run down by an engine at the Twenty-fourth street crossing on the Hollidaysburg Branch Railroad this evening. One was so badly injured that death may ensue at any moment. The other, although badly injured, will recover. The little ones had strayed away from home and were walking on the track, hand in hand, when struck. The engineer whistled repeatedly and reversed his engine, but his efforts to stop were futile.

Terrible Accident to a Farmer.

ALLIANCE, O., July 9.—A terrible accident occurred at Strasburg, a small hamlet six miles west of here, yesterday. Daniel Lutzinger was unloading hay on Simon Mandru's farm with a horse hay fork, and as a forkful of hay was ascending the fork sprang loose from the hay and one of the prongs struck Mr. Lutzinger just above the left eye, tearing off the top of his skull and a small portion of the brain, the wound presenting a sickening appearance. He will probably die.

—ONE dose of McDonald's Great Blood Purifier or Sarsaparillian Alterative is guaranteed to contain more alterative porperties, more truly remedial power than three doses of any other known alterative or blood purifier. Many other blood remedies are good enough in their way, only that you are compelled to buy a galloon of medicine to get a pint of remedy; the manufacturers having sacrificed strength and usefulness to palatability and profit. McDonald's Blood Purifier is put up in seventy-five cent bottles containing as much as most dollar bottles of other makes. Dissatisfied purchasers can have their money refunded.

Two Fatal Accidents.

EASTON, Pa., July 9.—Two fatal accidents occurred yesterday in Bushkill township, Northampton county. Mrs. Jacob Welty, aged 49 years, was instantly killed by falling headforemost from a cherry tree. In the fall her forehead struck the ground with great force, and her neck was broken. A two-year old son of John Kaske was knocked down and run over by one of his father's horses, and died several hours later from his injuries.

They Went in Swimming.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., July 9.—Yesterday Alexander Weaver living several miles from here, in the country, accompanied by a companion, both quite young, went to a store some distance from the house. On their way home the boys concluded to go in swimming in Pine Creek. The water was deep and young Weaver was drowned. His body was recovered.

Lock Haven wants the State Grange.

LOCK HAVEN, July 9.—Efforts are being made to have the next meeting of the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, held in this city. The citizens promise to make it pleasant for the grangers if they decide to come here.

An Exquisitely Lovely Thing.

A most bewitching picture is being brought out, entitled "Little Sweethearts." Probably no picture in any part of the world has ever met with such an outburst of applause. It is being brought out by Graham & Millar, Art Publishers, 146 Centre Street, New York. Everybody is sure to want one. They want good agents. Here is a chance to make lots of money. Boys, and girls during summer vacation can make a little pile. It isn't often we recommend anything, but "Little Sweethearts" is praised by the best people in the land.

IT WENT ROUND AMONG THE NEIGHBORS.—Mr. Levi Stahl, merchant and postmaster at Fostoria, Pa., writes:

'Mr. J. A. McDonald, Reedsville, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—Some time ago I had a severe attack of chronic diarrhoea. Could obtain no relief. A friend gave me a part of a bottle of your Cutis' Carmelite Cordial, and a few doses entirely cured me. The balance of the bottle went around among the neighbors. Since then I have written to New York and Philadelphia for the medicine but could not procure it. I traced up the bottle we had and found it was purchased of Mr. Jacob Cowan, merchant in Altoona, and from him obtained your address. Please forward me one dozen bottles by express at once, as I do not wish to be without it in my family and wish to sell it in my store.'

Single bottle Curtis' Carmelite Cordial guaranteed to cure any case of cholera, dysentery, diarrhoea, cramps, pains and all iritation of the bowels incident to change of climate, diet and water.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—The town council held their regular monthly meeting last Saturday evening and after the reading and approval of the minutes the clerk read a communication from D. F. Fortney, Esq., the council's attorney, in relation to the rights and duties of the council to make a plan of the Boro', establish and change streets, enact a new body of ordinances and other matter, upon which the following preamble and resolution was offered:

WHEREAS, the general ordinances of the Borough of Millheim, enacted by the council and approved by the Chief Burgess, April 21st, 1879, are in some points defective of their object and in others of doubtful legality, therefore,

Resolved, that a committee of three, of which the President shall be one, be appointed who shall with the assistance of the clerk and attorney revise the said ordinances, so as to make them more effective and in conformity with the laws of the commonwealth. Said committee to report at the next regular meeting. After some discussion the resolution passed unanimously, the committee consisting of J. F. Harter, A. C. Musser and A. Miller.

Another resolution offered is the following:

Inasmuch as it is very necessary as well as required by law that the location of all streets, lanes and alleys should be definitely fixed, therefore

Resolved, that a special committee of three, of which the President shall be one, be appointed to make a complete survey and plan of the borough and to name the streets and alleys. Said committee is hereby authorized to employ one or two surveyors or engineers to carry out this resolution, provided that no new streets or alleys be opened nor any changes made in the location or width of any streets, lanes or alleys now existing, except by direction of a majority of the council. Said committee shall ask and demand from any person in whose possession the same may be, all plans, drafts, decrees of court or other papers relating to the Boro' and report to the next regular meeting.

The resolution was passed and J. F. Harter, Henry Fiedler and A. C. Musser appointed as a committee.

On motion it was voted that the clerk be and is hereby instructed to purchase at the expense of the borough, a copy of the latest edition of Purdon's Digest for the use of council.

On motion the tax rate was fixed at 2½ mills for the current year.

It was voted that the street commissioner under the direction of the street and alley committee shall construct new crossings of plank, not less than four inches thick, at the alleys between A. Miller and Mrs. Albright, between Wm. Walker and B. F. Kister and between J. F. Harter and D. Scholl.

LAY THEM AWAY.—We mean the horrible, nauseous worm-seed compounds called worm syrups and vermifuges; many of them as worthless as they are obnoxious. They have out-lived their usefulness. People do not want them since McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders, so easy and pleasant to take, can be had from any dealer Everyone who has tried them say they are the nicest and best vermifuges ever discovered. The children take them and never know a medicine is being administered. Any case of failure to cause explosion where worms exist the money promptly refunded in every instance.

—After a stay of several weeks at Danville, Pa. Miss Mary Mauck returned home last week.

—We noticed Mr. J. F. Torbert, of Williamsport, on our streets yesterday afternoon.

—Mrs. R. H. R. Harter, of Chicago, is at present here on a short visit to relations.

—We had a pleasant call on Tuesday afternoon from Register McClain, of Bellefonte. He is one of the most obliging and popular county officials and we shall be delighted to have him call again.

—Two front lots for sale in East Bierly town, Miles township, at reasonable prices. Address or apply to MRS. PETER S. BIERLY, and daughters, Rebersburg, Pa.

—Samuel Frank, executor, advertises the sale of the real estate of Michael Frank, dec'd, late of Penn township, to take place on the premises in Haines township, about 3 miles east of Aaronsburg, August 12th. See bills.

—Two volumes of Purdon's Digest, latest edition, have just been received by the clerk of the council, for the use of the boro. From now out they need not borrow any more legal advice but will be able to expound law themselves.

—Miss Maggie Miller's friends noticed with real pleasure that she is able to be about again. She had been confined to bed for over two weeks with a severe headache and extreme nervousness. Hope she will enjoy lasting health now.

MUSICAL COLLEGE.—The 30th Session of Six Weeks, opens Monday evening, July 26th, 1886, for the Teaching and Training of Young Ladies in Vocal and Instrumental Music.

Address, F. C. MOYER, Musical Director, Freeburgh, Pa. 24-4t

—W. G. Rook, the proprietor of the National Hotel, had a new and very attractive sign put up in front of his place of business and the traveling public when arriving in town can see at a glance where landlord Rook may be found. S. K. Faust and J. W. Lose did the job.

NOTICE.—All persons who have dealings with us are requested to call on us and settle their accounts between this and the first of August, next. After that date the accounts will be put in the hands of a collector.

WHITMER & LINCOLN.

Coburn, July 15th 1886.

—Flossie, the one year-old daughter of E. H. Long had a close escape from being strangled to death on Tuesday morning. She got hold of a liniment bottle and pulling the cork, poured the contents over her face. For a time she suffered intensely, but by strenuous efforts the attending physician got her safely over it.

—Last Thursday the advance agent of Walter L. Main's circus came to town with a crew of bill posters and decorated every available place with glaring show bills, to the great delight of the small boys and some of the big boys. Main's show was in town several years ago and gave splendid satisfaction and we don't doubt that their exhibitions next Monday will be greeted by large crowds.

—The quarterly meeting in the U. B. church last Sunday was favored with good success. The Lords supper in the forenoon was participated in by 76 communicants and the services throughout were well attended.

—"Daisy" is the name, and it is a daisy. We mean the corset we just received. It is worked in fancy silk, has an elegant and well-fitting shape and sells for 35 cents. The biggest run of the season. Call at our store on Main street. D. S. KAUFFMAN & Co.

—The Indiana Times of a recent date says: The Walter Main Circus troupe gave two performances here yesterday, which were largely attended. It is one of the old fashioned "road shows," and gives more genuine amusement for 25 cents, than any railroad show that has visited us. The D'Alma family is a whole show itself, while the general acrobatic and other performances were unsurpassed. The wonderfully trained dogs of Prof. May are alone worth the price of admission.

—The painters are about finishing J. W. Stover's store on Main street and it will be one of the neatest and most pleasant business places in town. The front panel work is painted jet black, relieved by gold, and looks very attractive. The two show windows are encased by heavy french plate glass and everything about the interior of the place is in conformity with its external appearance. When ready for business, which will be in a short time, Mr. Stover will make an announcement of it through the JOURNAL.

SCHOOL NOTICE.—Mr. J. F. Keller, of Adamsburg, Pa., has concluded to teach a nine weeks' term of summer school in the Penn street school house, Millheim, commencing July 26th, provided a sufficient number of pupils can be secured. In order to do justice to large and small scholars he will grade the school and for that purpose employ an assistant teacher. Further information can be had from the borough school directors.

—On Friday Main's New International Show exhibited in this place, afternoon and evening. The performances were creditable throughout, and indeed were superior to those usually witnessed in shows of its class. The band furnished excellent music; the trained horses and dogs were worth seeing; the contortionists were A No. 1; the trapeze performances were good. Main's show is one of the best little shows on the road, as the large audience which attended on Friday evening will testify.—Cononsburg, Pa., Rural.

DISSTRESSING ACCIDENT.—Last Wednesday morning, Mrs Jacob Breon, residing on one of Jonathan Harter's farms in Penn township, was at Elias Smith's, about a mile east of Penn Hall, to pick sour cherries. She had climed on one of the trees, and being a lusty woman, her weight proved too much for the limb she stood on. It broke and she fell heavily to the ground sustaining a severe fracture of the left arm near the wrist. She also received some bruises about her body and could not be removed to her home until the next day. Medical assistance was at once procured and the lady is doing as well as can be expected.

—Chas. Guinness Co., from New York, who played Peck's Bad Boy and That Awful Girl in the town hall of this place last Monday evening, gave a better entertainment than we had here for many years. It is a most humorous play and the actors performed their rolls to such perfection that the audience was kept in an uproarious merriment during the whole evening. As part of the proceeds were to go to the band, the boys gave the town and surrounding country a good canvass beforehand and were rewarded by a full house. The street parade in the evening was rendered very comical by the donkey and the "royal bumper" following the band wagon. If ever the the troupe returns to this town, we think they will draw a larger crowd.

GORED TO DEATH.—On Saturday afternoon, July 3rd, Mrs. Samuel Walker, of Nittany Valley, while driving some cattle to the field, was attacked by a vicious bull. The mad animal dragged the unfortunate lady for several rods, goring her terribly all the while and finally left her to her fate, with three broken ribs and other serious internal injuries. Her little girl, who witnessed part of the accident but could be of no assistance, gave the alarm by ringing the farm bell, which brought the men, who were at work on the fields, and who carried the wounded lady to the house. She laid there in great pain until Sunday when she became unconscious and remained so until the time of her death, on the following Tuesday.

—The Fourth was an exceedingly quiet day in Millheim, owing to the busy haying and harvest season. But shortly after sundown the farmers flocked to town and the streets became crowded with people. The band struck up on Main street and marched down Penn to the rink, where the festival of the M. E. Ladies' Mite Society was in progress. Naturally the crowd followed the band and soon the managers and waiters of the festival had their hands full attending to the wants of their numerous customers Business was brisk there until a late hour and the people seemed in splendid spirits as they gathered around the many well-arranged tables to partake of the delicious ice cream and cakes, while the band for more than an hour filled the spacious building with delightful strains of music. The net proceeds from the festival amounted to over $72. At about half past nine o'clock a nice display of fireworks was given on the sheep hill, east of town, which was witnessed with much admiration by those who could get there in time to see it.

DEATH.—On Friday, July 2nd, Mrs. Harter, the widow of Geo. Harter, dec'd, late of Millheim, departed this life at Annville, Lycoming county, where she resided for the last few years with a sister. Her husband, who was a well-known citizen of this place, preceded her about four years ago. The lady had reached the age of 78 years, 9 months, and 8 days, and died in the full hope of a faithful christian. Her funeral took place on Sunday and was attended by a number of her relations from this place, among them G. W. Harter, Em'l. Harter and wife, Mrs. A. R. Alexander.

A SHOCKING DEATH.—On Saturday morning, July 3rd, the community around Centre Hill, this county, was greatly horrified by the drowning of Mrs. Mollie Neff, widow of the late Col. Josiah Neff, of Centre Hill. The Bellefonte Daily News in chronicling the sad occurrence goes on to say that Mrs. Neff and her daughter, Miss Sue Neff, resided together in a fine country residence on one of the best farms in Centre county. She was a lady of about 65 years of age, of excellent physical health, but recently she imagined that she was ill and called in medical assistance. The result of the medical examination was that Mrs. Neff was well physically, but that, by reason of recent troubles, chief among which was the death of her husband about two years ago, her mind was becoming deranged and her friends were advised to re-double their care of her.

On Saturday morning her daughter left her upstairs, and on returning to her mother's room not more than twenty minutes afterwards could not find her. She went into the garden to look for her mother and when she approached the cistern she noticed that a plank had been removed. Looking down into the cistern she saw the cold, white face of her mother looking up at her. Death had already set its seal upon her brow.

As soon as possible the grief-stricken woman summoned assistance and the inanimate body was raised from the cistern.

PLENTY AND YET NOT ENOUGH.—The officer of the law who exercises his authority in preserving order and decorum with discretion and impartiality is a personage that cannot be esteemed too highly in a community. Existing laws, be they state or local, must be observed and enforced and in view of this the arrest of a certain young man, who on the morning of last Fourth of July violated that section of the boro' ordinances which prohibits the discharge of fire crackers upon our streets, met with the full approval of all law-abiding citizens. This timely action of our high constable nipped the evil in the bud and put a stop to the nuisance at least during day time.

But, as in many other cases, there is a dark side to this thing of being a police officer. His activity should not be confined to broad daylight and quiet streets, but should continue and increase in the hours of night and in crowded public places. It is then and there that the keen and piercing eye of a vigilant policeman is needed most, when boisterous and disorderly crowds should be dispersed and unruly characters dealt with in a stern and fearless manner, and without distinction as to standing or family connections. Now on the evening of the Fourth we noticed an uncommon amount of rowdyism and profanity, especially in the vicinity of the rink on Penn street, where the M. E. Mite Society were holding their festival. Several drunken "roughs" filled the air with hideous language and heavy oaths and amused themselves by throwing burning firecrackers at passers-by. But, strange to say, our high constable who had begun the day so well in attending to the duties of his office, made himself only conspicuous by his persistent absence and the swaggerers had all the elbow room they wanted. We, and many others, thought there was a decided lack of police and while there was plenty of it in the forenoon, there was not near enough in the evening. We do not want to censure nor dictate, but the marked difference between the general behavior in the day time and that in the evening deserves at least a comment.

OBITUARY.—It is with sadness that we record the death of Mrs. Clara Ulrich, eldest daughter of Major J. B. Fisher, of Penn Hall. She peacefully fell asleep on the evening of July 1st, having arrived at the age of 30 years, 10 months and 13 days. On the 28th of April, 1885, she stood in bridal array by the side of her affianced husband and, with the prospect of a happy life in wedlock, cast in her lot with his. Kind-hearted and noble-minded, she was fitted to be a helpmeet indeed. The house which was to be their home, and in which they were to share each others joys, was already furnished when sickness set in and terminated in her death. She was never permitted to occupy it.

Mrs. Ulrich was a member of the Reformed church and a truly christian lady. Baptized in her infancy by Rev. M. A. Smith, and growing up in a Christian family and in the bosom of the church, and finally confirmed by Rev. C. H. Reiter, she never knew a time when she was not a Christian and did not serve her Master. In all her life-time she was a devoted Christian and grew to be very active and useful in her church. Though modest and retired in her life she did not shrink from duty. She was a faithful teacher in the Sunday school. Skillful in the art of music she, for a number of years, served the Sunday-school and congregation in the capacity of organist. In her sickness which continued nearly a month, she was peaceful and resigned to the will of her Heavenly Father. The daily study of her Bible, hymn-book and catechism as well as faithfulness in her private prayer, had prepared her to be so. Out of the abundance of her heart, accordingly, she praised her God and sweetly sang "Rock of Ages" and "Jesus lover of my soul," and discoursed freely on faith and the practical duties of Christian life; and when she had ended, calmly folding her hands on her breast, she exclaimed. "Now I am ready to die." The hour of this spiritual transportation will ever be remembered by those who were present. She died in the triumphs of faith. On the following day her infant daughter was baptized and named Lola Miriam, a name of her own selection. Her remains were interred at Salem's church on the 4th inst. on which occasion her pastor preached on Romans 8: 18 to a crowded house and was assisted by Rev's. D. M. Wolf and J. M. Evans,

—G. W. Wolf, of Fiedler, Haines township, wishes to notify the farmers that he will run his steam threshing machine throughout the season in Penns, Brush and Sugar Valleys. Persons wishing to engage his services will receive perfect satisfaction.

—Reuben Grimm, of Madisonburg, wishes to say that John Klinefelter of Millheim has finished painting his house and has made a No. 1. job of it. Mr. Grimm considers Klinefelter the best painter in the state, who is hard to beat on graining, and whose prices are very reasonable. Henry Miller, his assistant, is also an excellent painter, but will fall off the scaffolds some times. Mr. Grimm cheerfully recommends Klinfelter to any parties who may have some painting to do.

Neighboring News.

SMITH TOWN.

Mr. Editor, two weeks is a long and lonesome time to wait for the JOURNAL.

Some of our farmers are done harvesting.

J. H. Frank lost a valuable colt last week.

Raspberry thiefs are quite plenty. They think it isn't stealing, but we are at a loss for another name.

One of John Keen's sons was home last week and helped his father in haying.

Miss Ida Keen had a severe attack of the measles last week.

Mrs. Anna Frank, of Millheim, spent a few days here.

John Harshbarger improved his barn by putting on a new roof.

W. C. Duck and W. E. Smith, in company with their sisters, spent the Fourth in Bellefonte and report a good time.

Last week one of our young ladies disappeared mysteriously and a thorough search was at once made for her in the whole neighborhood. Just when the excitement was highest she returned from a near wheat field where she had been enjoying a sweet nap.

Alas for Millheim's freedom! While other towns, among them Bellefonte, celebrate Independence day in a becoming manner, with no end of shooting fire crackers, baloon ascensions and fire works, poor little Millheim is crushed by a lot of over-officious officers and the boys must pen up all their natural patriotism, or else go out of town and keep the Fourth of July at a safe distance. So much for borough laws.

JUMBO.

COBURN.

There being no edition last week gave the editor and correspondents a brief rest.

The festival held here by the Mite Society of the Lutheran congregation was well patronized and quite a nice sum realized. The three cakes voted for between the three ministers were taken as follows: First choice, Rev. Deitzler, second choice, Rev. Yearick and third Rev. Swengle. The Millheim band kindly came here and livened things up with some of their fine music on Friday evening. On Saturday evening quite an interest was taken in the cake walk which was enjoyed by all present. The ladies of the society return their thanks to all who done so well in making the festival a success, and assure them that the money realized will be put to good use.

Squire Gettig and R. F. Vonada took in the encampment at Gettysburg over the 4th, and report a good time. Andy Campbell did up the old home. Shamokin, on the 4th, and reports a large crowd and a good time in general.

Our agent, W. H. Kremer, is happy, as his father, mother and sister are paying him a visit. They reside in Emporia, Kansas, where Mr. Kremer is engaged in the wholesale and retail cigar and tobacco business. Mr. Kremer is known by a great many of the old residenters here, having lived in Aaronsburg some twenty years ago. He is starting for his home in the West some day next week, but is leaving his wife and daughter here in the mountains all summer on account of their poor health.

There were not as many people took advantage of the cheap fourth of July excursion rates this year as in former years.

There was a trial of self-binders in Samuel Ulrich's grain fields last week but we have not learned who came out best.

The Chas. Guinness Comedy Co., accompanied by a donkey and goat arrived here on Monday, bound for Millheim. A great many of our people were up to see the entertainment, and report a crowded house and a good, hearty laugh from the beginning to the end of the play.

Mr. Durham, of Durham Bros. & Co., was in town yesterday.

The Whitmer mill at Rising Springs was burned down one day last week. The mill was owned by Wm. Whitmer and run by Muckle Snyder. We have not learned the actual loss.

VALE.

SPRING MILLS.

The funeral of Mrs. Clara Ulrich, the wife of Mr. T. Benton Ulrich, which took place on the 4th, instant, was one of the largest ever witnessed in this section. She was the oldest daughter of J. B. and M. L. Fisher, of Penn Hall, at whose residence she died. She was esteemed by all who knew her. Her life was such that none could find fault, always trying to serve Him who doeth all things well. She was a bright and shining star in the community in which she lived and moved, was always ready to assist the needy and make the poor comfortable. She bore her sickness with christian patience, knowing that it was the Lord's will and expressed her desire to die if the Lord thought it best for her. Her death has cast a dark gloom over the whole comunity but we all have that cheering consolation that what is our loss is her gain. The bereaved hasband and relatives have the sympathy of the entire community.

Rev. J. D. Wilson and family, of New York City, has arrived and expects to spend a few months in our quiet little town.

Rev. L. Kryder Evans, of Pottstown, Pa., is at present here on a visit to his aged parents and other friends.

Rev. Lambert, of Pleasant Gap preached a very interesting sermon on last Sunday in the M. E. church. He is an able speaker.

Last week one evening there was a collision in front of the P. O. Mr. Ambrose Centzel and Domer G. Smith came both driving along in buggies and came in too close contact and the consequence was a demolished front wheel of Mr. Gentzel's buggy. The boys were pretty badly scared, but nobody was hurt.

Prof. W. A. Krise and daughter have returned from a tour through the western part of the state.

Dr. Allison, while attending to a professional call last week had occasion to cross the railroad track, when he made a misstep by which he lost his equilibrium and landed headlong across the track. A bruised hand was however the only injury sustained. It was very painful but not serious.

On Monday afternoon a horse belonging to Mr. Sowers, of Penn Hall, was hitched to a post in front of Mr. Snyder's implement store, took fright at an approaching train, tore loose and ran towards home at a frightful speed. The horse crossed the railroad just in time to escape being caught by the passing engine.

Thos. Kennelly, who is employed on the railroad as section hand, had his foot badly bruised by a large rock accidentally rolling on it one day last week.

AARONSBURG.

Beautiful weather.

All is quiet concerning the Aaronsburg centennial.

Some of the boys say that all farmers using self-binding harvesters should be boycotted. The girls too think they are mean.

Aaron Bower and family, from Renova, Pa., are visiting their parents, John Bower's on North 2nd St.

H. H. Yearick and family, from Philadelphia, are paying their annual visit to their parents, Mr. Thos. Yearick's.

Chas. H. Stover, the tannery hill confectioner, had the first Jersey melons of the season. The boys say they were boss.

Dynamite Ira Gramley made about all the 4th of July noise in these parts by placing a charge of dynamite upon a rock. The report and shock were almost equal to artillery.

Luther E. Stover is down with typhoid fever. Mr. J. G. Meyer is nursing a sprained limb, caused by a fall, and Mrs. Linn Zeigler, living with Mrs. Sarah Shaffer, is confined to her bed suffering with a complication of diseases, known only to herself and her physician.

Andy Musser, son of J. H. Musser, who spent most of the past four months in Kansas, returned to his father's house on last Sunday morning at about five o'clock. As it takes a six months stay in Kansas to become a Jayhawker, Andy can't assume that title. Home, sweet home.

The JOURNAL Devils dropped in to see us last week. Of course, it was an off-duty week for the boys. We had quite an interesting conversation with the "Junior in Typo," on the art of printing and other subjects. There was some outside attraction close at hand for one of the boys, but, Mr. Editor, don't mention any names. Come again, boys.

While Millheim had a "bad boy" and "an awful girl," Aaronsburg had a very funny hog. Oh, horror of horrors, to see a hog running the street with an iron frame, steel-toothed harrow on its back and about one dozen men, women and children in hot pursuit, each one striving to get the first hold on the hog. The traveling harrow was brought to a halt, the hog extricated from its steel grip and the circus ended. The admission, of course, was free.

ANOTHER.

MADISONBURG.

Fourth of July was very quiet in our little town.

Beck's (not Peck's) bad boys had quite a tramp, coming from Bellefonte on Sunday morning.

By the time the JOURNAL reaches its many readers, most of the farmers in Brushvalley will be done cutting their grain.

Oats and Barley will be an extra good crop this season.

News is very scarce this week.

STILL ANOTHER.

WOODWARD.

W. R. Ettlinger and Benj. Orndorf have built a very fancy boat with which they intend exploring the upper waters of Pine Creek.

Mrs. Haines, and her brother, Jas. W. Ettinger, both children of Sol. Ettinger, dec'd, are here from Springfield, Mo, visiting their mother.

Mertie Wolfe is visiting at Centre Hall and Spring Mills.

One of the manufacturers of the Hydrolic Cider Press, from Ohio, spent a few days in our village.

Two fine deer got into Samuel Roup's grain field one day last week.

The law restricts N. W. Eby, distiller, to sell in quantities less than one gallon. Hereafter no quart bottles need apply.

John Young died on the 10th instant and was buried on the 12th, in the church yard at Wolf's church. His age was 75 years, 4 months and 1 day. He was born in Haines township, and with the exception of two years, which he passed in Ohio, he spent his long and useful life within a mile of his birthplace. He was honorable in all his dealings and never provoked the displeasure of any of his neighbors. Peace to his ashes.

Cheap Living in Washington.

A Washington letter says : I know of a woman in Washington who occupied a small, dark, inside room on the fifth floor of a tolerably fashionable hotel. She, to use a theatrical expression, faked out her meals—that is, she arose at 10 or 12, bought a second hand newspaper for a cent and wended her way to a small saloon on Pennsylvania avenue whose proprietor had grown rich by making a specialty of delicious coffee and Vienna rolls and fine butter. He charges 10 cents for this little lunch. This Mme. Itinerant would breakfast on her cup of coffee and roll. Then she went up to Congress, invariably riding in the three-cent car. There is a bobtail car running up to the Capital, the fare in which is only three cents, and some folks are so aristocratic they are ashamed to be caught riding in it.

Mme. would visit a few of the members, loll for a while in the gallery of the House and sit just long enough in the Senate gallery to secure recognition by a smile or a bow, from such of her Senatorial friends as happened to be on the floor, and after picking up a few choice items of gossipy news, the conversational coin with which she paves and pays her social way, my Mme. Itinerant gets back by two o'clock to her dingy inside room. At 3 she comes out resplendent in a nonpareil velvet dress and, card-case in hand, starts on the round of calls. She goes from house to house and daintily and deliberately eats her lunch at each place. In the course of ten visits Madame has more than satisfied the cravings of her stomach and has dined and supped for the day Do you wonder that I call this "faking out one's meals ?"

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,

A Cold-Footed Lady.

Madam, allow me to prescribe for you. I have had a long experience in the management of delicate women, and believe I can give you some important advice. For the present I prescribe only for your feet :

First—Procure a quantity of woolen stockings, not such as you buy at the store under the name of lamb's wool, that you can read a newspaper through, but the kind that your Aunt Jerusha in the country knits for you, that will keep your feet dry and warm in spite of wind and weather.

Second—If you want to be thorough, change them every morning, hanging the fresh ones by the fire during the night.

Third—Procure thick calf skin boots, double uppers and tripple soles, and wear them from the first of October to the first of May. Make frequent applications of some good oil blacking.

Fourth—Avoid rubbers altogether, except a pair of large rubber boots, which may be worn for a little time through snow drifts of a flood of water.

Fifth—Hold the bottoms of your feet in cold water a quarter of an inch deep just before going to bed two or three minutes, and then rub them hard with rough towels and your naked hands.

Sixth—Now, madam, go out freely in all weathers, and, believe me, not only will your feet enjoy a good circulation, but, as a consequence of the good circulation in the lower extremities, your head will be relieved of all its fullness, and your heart of its palpitations. Your complexion will be greatly improved, and your health made better in every respect.—Hall's Journal of Health.
